Lecture and Workshop topics:

'A Deeper Look at Aspects'

Thursday, September 9th, 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Where did aspect theory come from? What are the ways to enhance the information available within each aspect? We'll explore the development of aspect theory and the importance sign and house rulership when interpreting aspects. Attendees will learn how to add precision to their birth chart and predictive interpretations. A must for anyone looking to create simplicity out of the huge volume of information and data in the birth chart.

'The Importance of Light'

Friday, September 10th, 7:00-9:00 p.m.

How the planets gain influence in the chart based on how visible they are or aren't at birth. Have you considered how the Moon in Taurus varies in strength/influence/manifestation according to Moon phase? Or the time of day one was born? Are you aware of the circumstances in which the Moon sign can be more dominant than the Sun sign? We'll look at phase, visibility, speed and station of the visible planets in the birth chart/by transit to get a more complete understanding of what's really happening in the chart. Students learn to think about the chart as a 3 dimensional image rather than symbols on the page. We'll explore the day and night sky from what can be seen and adjust our birth chart delineation accordingly. Visual astrology at its best!

'Progressions and Predictions'

Saturday, September 11th, 10:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

After transits, progressions are the most commonly used predictive tool in modern astrology. We'll look at where this 500+ yr. old predictive tool came from and what we're really supposed to do with them. The relationship between transits and progressions is discussed so attendees can deepen their own understanding of dynamic cycles at work. We'll look at the progressed Moon cycle and its role in affecting other transits/progressions. How does your Saturn return, Uranus midlife transit, etc., differ depending on your progressions? Come find out! Students can learn techniques to help them layer and prioritise different transit and progressed energies to enhance the accuracy of their predictions about recent, current and upcoming cycles.

Kelly will also make time for individual consultations on Thursday, September 9th and Friday, September 10th. Her fees are $220 for a 90 min. Birth/natal chart reading which includes significant year ahead cycles, and $150 for a 60 min. year ahead predictive session.
