March 11, 2010 7:30 - 9:30 pm Charlotte Greenwood on History of Astrology p.II

Charlotte is passionate about astrology and has been casting astrological charts since she was 16. During the past 15 years she has integrated astrology into her psychic practice. In 2006 she completed the Foundation Level with the Faculty of Astrological Studies, London. She also holds a Level III Certificate from the Canadian Association for Astrological Education. She is an active member of the Fraser Valley Astrological Guild.

The History of Astrology is one of which is woven firmly into the fabric of every major culture of the past 4 millennia. It is a significant contributor to the sciences and philosophies we recognize today. It has been flexible enough to speak to every age, and yet possesses the integrity to remain constant to its foundation – namely, that each individual is rooted in his/her own unique relationship to the cosmos, and that Astrology is a living, breathing, symbolic language which places us in this context.

Come hear its Stories.

April 8-10 2010 7:30 - 9:30 pm Kevin Burke - Astrology and the Law of Attraction

On April 8, 9 and 10, Kevin Burk will present his workshop Astrology and the Law of Attraction. This will be a fascinating workshop as Kevin explores Archetypes, works with the personal planets Sun to Saturn and shows us a whole new way to attract what we really want.

For more information on Kevin's workshop you can see his 10 minute video by clicking on http://www.AstrologyLawofAttraction.com.

Kevin's video was filmed in Houston, TX and he offers an introduction to his work and the very interesting workshop that he will be presenting in April. Kevin is an accomplished author. His books are Astrology, Understanding the Birth Chart; The Complete Node Book and a book on relationships.

Kevin will also be available for private readings while he is here. To set up an appointment you can reach him at Kevin@TheRealAstrology.com

The workshop site for Friday evening and Saturday will be at the Unity Church at 1630 Edinburgh St, New Westminster (between 16th and 17th Streets). See Denise at our March meeting for maps!

Presidents Message: March 2010

Well, here we are on the west coast fully experiencing spring-like weather since January while VANOC struggles to keep the Cypress ski hills in shape for the Olympic athletes. What a turn around from last winter when we didn't think the snow would ever leave us; cars abandoned on side streets, slipping and sliding our way to and from our daily business. What a difference 12 months makes in the scheme of things.

We would like to thank Rachel Visconti for her very informative talk on the 'Astrological Elements and Psychological Types'. Rachel's talk was well presented and we look forward to hearing more from her in the future.

The Olympics are upon us and in the months prior to the event I would often think of the Mars retrograde that would run through those eventful weeks to March 10th. How would Mars play out these games? What might happen? Well, it didn't take long to realize our Mars Retrograde was going to have a huge impact on the athletes themselves, the games, the infrastructure etc. etc. I will not go into all of the details because they have all been well publicized. We know that Mars rules accidents, athletes, sports, sporting events including arenas, stadiums and tournaments, mechanics and mechanical ability, physical and muscular strength, tendons, motor nerves, wounds, policemen, opponents and patriotism to name just a few of its influences. Leo and the Sun have rulership over games, sports, grandeur and importance and …….. Gold! But Mars is retrograde and we've seen a tragic death, injuries, mechanical glitches, heartbreak, tremendous focus, new records set, triumph and ….. Gold! Canada wants to 'own the podium' – victory and conquest are ruled by Mars while triumph is ruled by Jupiter and success is ruled by Jupiter and Venus. As of this writing, the Moon (in Aries) and Mars are in an applying trine and in Pisces we have Jupiter (ruler) and Venus (exalted) conjunct yet quincunx to Mars. Pisces contains very good energy from Jupiter and Venus to support the Mars agenda.

According to my Solar Fire program, the Sun enters Pisces on Feb 18th at around 10:36 PST. Pisces will be featured somewhat this year briefly as Jupiter passes through until June 10th and again as Jupiter retrogrades back into Pisces on September 10th and stays until Jan 23rd next year. As Kevin Burk has put it in his book Astrology, Understanding the Birth Chart, "Jupiter in Pisces sees the truth that all boundaries, all separation and distinctions are simply illusions: we are all connected, we are all part of the source, of the universe. Jupiter in Pisces exudes compassion for all creation, and is very sensitive to the pain and discomfort of others….". And, Jupiter in Pisces is very timely, I'd say.

Pisces will begin hosting Chiron early in the morning on April 20th. It will retrograde back into Aquarius from August until October, but it will basically occupy Pisces until the spring of 2019 – 9 years. Chiron was in Taurus when it was discovered in 1977. The last time Chiron was in Pisces (although nobody knew it) was in 1962. At that time it was obvious that the structure of belief that worked well in the past was no longer viable and something new was replacing what had been the status quo. Cal Garrison in her book the Astrology of 2012 and Beyond writes "…we see the 50s mindset had run its course and new thought forms were beginning to take root in the collective mind. Between the Vietnam War and the hippie movement, we didn't know if we were coming or going; by 1968, when Chiron left Pisces, we'd rolled enough joints to blow all of our 50s illusions, including Doris Day and Rock Hudson, right up in smoke."

Pisces dissolves boundaries or on the down side, put another way, Pisces sees only boundaries. Pisces is the feminine and she is dualistic. The fishes swim both ways; the selfless healer and the wounded victim – opposite impulses of the same principle. One has the desire to heal because she understands that suffering is a boundary and finds, through compassion, a way to transmute it while the other succumbs to suffering that the perceived boundary generated and lacks the ability or strength to transcend it.

I cannot help but think of the movie Avatar which has had the highest ratings since its opening. I see this movie as a healing balm for the spiritual hunger that is so great at this time. Although a 'fantasy' is a gift for all of us and hopefully a forerunner to integrating new cycles of truth (Jupiter) and healing (Chiron) in Pisces; a healing that will be experienced by all, including Mother Earth who has suffered such indignities of indiscriminate use and abuse for decades. She will need more support now than ever before. Which of the fishes in all of us will stand up for the privilege to serve in her process?

After seven years of occupancy in Pisces, Uranus, the change maker, the free thinking non-conformist, the King of the Age (Aquarius) will be moving on to new ground in Aries May 29th. Anyone with a Pisces predominance has not escaped the lightening bolt of Uranus; changes, detours, shocks and surprises. We have experienced them all. Aries will be even more potent. A cardinal sign containing that much energy is bound to have repercussions throughout the world on all levels of consciousness. Uranus after all, is called the 'higher octave of Mercury'. This could mean anything from amazing inventions and technical advances for the benefit of humankind to the horrors of fire-power to the max. It is to be expected that we, here on planet earth, will get some of both and each of us who have Astrological knowledge await Uranus' next unexpected……shock ?

Charlotte Greenwood returns to the Guild on March 11th at 7:30pm to present part 2 of the History of Astrology. Part 1 was fascinating and for those of you who were not able to attend, it is recorded on a CD in the library for your perusal. Part 2 of Charlotte's talk will be equally as interesting. Charlotte is a wonderful presenter; articulate, knowledgeable and entertaining. Don't miss it!

Kevin Burk, Astrology and the Law of Attraction will be with us April 8th, 9th and 10th. His evening talks on Thursday and Friday evenings and his workshop on Saturday, the 10th promise to be something that you won't want to miss. Saturn in Libra for the next two years speaks to us about getting real in all of our relationships. Kevin will explain how, who and why we attract what we attract. Keep an eye out for notices sent about Kevin's workshop through the astrology guild webmail.

Please go to www.AstrologyLawofAttraction.com for a preview of his workshop. Kevin will also be available for private readings while he is here. To set up an appointment, you can reach him at Kevin@TheRealAstrology.com

All talks and workshops will be held at the unity Church at 1630 Edinburgh St., New Westminster (between 16th & 17th Sts.) You can Google MapQuest with the address and receive directions and a map. Also, a map will be provided at the next guild meeting on March 11th.

More on the Haiti Earthquake and the Mayan Shift

By Dawn Muncaster

There has been much written on the Haiti earthquake, and many different theories on delineating this disaster; and I am sure all have their merit.

I have always taken an interest in mundane astrology so I decided to take a look myself. And upon noticing a few of the finer details of this chart, I decided to further delineate this event in one of my astrology classes with my very enthusiastic students. We had quite a session! Previously we had analysed the 2 most recent eclipses: The Lunar eclipse of December 31, 2009 in Cancer and the Solar eclipse January 15, 2010 in Capricorn. We have learned the importance of eclipses and what they may bring. Because the gravitational pull is greater at this time, new and full moons are more powerful and have a reputation of triggering earthquakes, global disasters, uncovering hidden information, and/or bringing some kind of message, which may come from the political arenas, world relations or personal struggles such as Tiger Woods.

Personally I felt something was coming, as the universe has a way of communicating with me, and I have learned to pay attention. For example on the first occasion I was out and about in my daily life, when I overheard someone say "Are you ready for the big one?" They were not directly talking to me, but I heard this at the precise moment I had walked by. On the second occasion I had turned on the TV and heard the newscaster say "Are you ready for the big one?" I felt the vibration of the words in my body, so I knew to pay attention. (I think the newscaster was talking about the upcoming Olympics which were soon to begin in my hometown of Vancouver, BC, Canada) I felt concerned but did not know really what to do, except 'stay tuned.' This had happened previously, a few nights before the Indonesia Quake and Tsunami in 2004, I was awakened by the shaking of my bed, and thought I was experiencing an earthquake. After a few moments I was relieved to know I had been experiencing a lucid dream or some future event. I know there are many of us that have these kinds of experiences, but I would sure like to 'receive' the latitude and longitude of where these quakes and disasters are about to happen.

The eclipse of January 14 and 15th certainly carried a lot of 'punch', as it displayed itself as a triple conjunction in the cardinal earth sign of Capricorn. The Sun, Moon and Venus at 25 degrees of Capricorn carried the authority of the day and either rose or set with the fixed star Canopus. The Sabian symbol for 26 degrees of Capricorn speaks of the soul of nature, the world soul, known as 'anima mundi', refers to occult energy. (Sabian Symbols, Rudhyar, Page 245) The nodes were in the cardinal Capricorn/Cancer axis. Then to add to the mix there was another triple conjunction of Jupiter, Neptune and Chiron in the fixed air sign of Aquarius placed in the 8th house.

The actual earthquake chart itself is quite the mix of heavy aspects and numerical significance. For those of you who are reading this article and do not know me, I have discovered a system to further interpret a chart by reading the numbers in the chart which is a combination of Pythagorean style numerology and Kabbalah geometria. In addition I am also attuned to the Sabian Symbols developed by Mark Edmond Jones, and the significance of the Fixed Stars. Does that sound like a lot of details? Well, it is, but I feel these are all excellent tools to really get to the heart of the chart. My students and I have been delineating mundane charts by this methodology, and it is so amazing to see how numerology, Sabian symbols and other interpretations on degrees of the zodiac are assigned. Further, to watch the fixed stars at play make for a very revealing and convincing research project.

With the ascendant at 14°57 Cancer, this number tells me there will be sorrow and sadness, as the #57 in the tarot signifies the 3 of swords. (note: all numbers have a polarity, positive and negative vibrations; however this #57 did create sorrow. But one day this # 57 will reverse it polarity and become the #75.)

The 14th degree of Aries in the natural chart, being the ascendant point, can refer to one who may not live to old age. (The Degrees of the Zodiac, p. Donna Walter Henson.) Further, the 14th degree of Cancer is conjunct the fixed star Canopus which has both positive and negative associations. It can destroy what it has created; Brady's quotes it is 'finding new pathways or the breaking of new ground". Brady's Fixed Stars, p.68, Canopus also rose and set at 25 degrees of Cancer or Capricorn, (therefore conjunct Venus and the Sun.) It culminates at 5 Cancer. Canopus was called 'the heavy weighing Canopus' as it was described as the heavy weight on the end of a plumb line which defined the south and north poles. If the plum line moved with Canopus as its weight, it would logically cause the pole alignment to shift, or in this case the tectonic plates. So here we are… all ready in the Mayan Shift of 2012! Just an added note, I also believe the Mayan shift represents not only many earth changes, but a polarity shift of our consciousness. I see this as positive and propose it will change our values, beliefs, our DNA, and our destiny to a brighter future. We are moving towards this now. However, that is not to say it will be a trouble free transition.

The Moon, Pluto and Mercury Rx were placed in the 6th house of Virgo, the sign on the cusp was 17 Sagittarius, (meaning 'rebirth' in Dane Rudhyar Sabian Symbols, page 220,) and when placed on this Virgo cusp, means a Volcanic eruption, and explosion (Sabian symbols page 161. Donna Henson quotes, Jupiter here, death by judicial degree. (p.38)

The moon is at 26 degrees of Sagittarius, also known as Galactic Center which is a powerful center of gravity in our universe and acts as a sun to our own sun. With this much gravity pull and Canopus on the ascendant it makes logical sense that this enormous amount of energy being transmitted to earth would cause some kind of shift.

Further, the fixed star Algol is positioned at 26 degrees of Taurus and is quincunx the Moon and galactic center. (Although not in the chart it is still there in the universe.)

Algol at 26 degrees of Taurus, and is often said to be the most violent star in the heavens; it refers to 'piled up corpses' and mass destruction. And if we were watching the news this is what we unfortunately saw. I would like to note here that according to B. Brady, it is also known to be a passionate star…male or female energy.

Algol is a fixed star known by the Arabs as Al-Ghul, which means "The Ghoul" or "Demon Star", and the Chinese as Tseih She, which means "Piled-up Corpses" and mass destruction.
(Brady's Book of Fixed Stars, p.188, B.Brady)

(PLEASE SEE CHARTS on page 6)

Here is a list of other planetary aspects; this is quite the line up!

Moon at galactic center – 26 Sag is squaring Uranus in Pisces at 23°27."
Moon at galactic center is quincunx the fixed star Algol (as above) an extremely volatile combination.
Moon at galactic center was conjunct Pluto, an out of sign conjunction with a 7°6" orb.
Moon is quincunx the South Node at 21 Cancer.
Moon square Uranus in Pisces.
A Yod configuration emphasizing the Moon, Jupiter, and the South Node as the apex, with an orb is 5 degrees. The 21st degree of cancer is conjunct the Twins of Gemini, Castor and Pollux, which represents polarity, push, pull, up, down, positive, negative, perhaps the tectonic plates moving and shifting pulling in 2 opposite directions. As our earth is designed with a polarity matrix, it makes perfect logical sense to me that our planet must have the two fixed stars of Caster and Pollux on the ascendant or conjunct the ascendant. . According to the Thema Mundi, the ancient world chart, it shows 15 degrees of Cancer on the ascendant, which would in fact be conjunct Castor /Pollux, the two stars of opposites. Moreover, with Canopus as the plumb line for the poles we can reason that something fundamental to the earth's matrix had occurred.
The Thema Mundi (World Theme, with 'theme' being a word that also means chart) was a mythical horoscope used in Hellenistic astrology that shows the supposed positions of the seven visible planets (including the Sun and Moon) at the beginning of the universe. It purports to exemplify the logic behind the sign rulerships, exaltations, and meanings of the aspects, among other things. (Wikipedia)

Next, there was a T-Square involving Saturn at 4 Libra opposite the Midheaven at 8 Aries, and Pluto (3 Capricorn) Conjunct Mercury (6 Capricorn)
Further the Pluto conjunct Mercury is square Saturn in Libra at 4 degrees Libra – near the IC (4th house cusp) Saturn rules Capricorn an earth sign and rules structure, which was destroyed by the Moon Pluto conjunction which was inconjunct Algol (7 degree orb)
Mars was Retrograde at 16 Leo and quincunx the north node in Capricorn at 25, the north node is trine the difficult star Algol.
Mercury was Retrograde at 6 Capricorn conjunct Pluto, an aspect related to Atomic Physics.
Saturn was about to station retrograde at 4 Libra which squared Pluto and Mercury Rx; an unpredictable time as any planet about to change direction is unsteady.

In conclusion we can see how heavily weighted this combination of the fixed stars was affecting our planet.

Canopus, the heavy weight affecting our north and south poles, Castor and Pollux the twin stars of polarity, pushing and pulling away from each other, and lastly, Algol, the star of mass destruction was quincunx to the moon and galactic center!
And I think to myself…if only there was a way to predict exactly when and where these disasters will occur. Maybe someday, somehow.

The Response and the Heart of the Matter

Venus conjuncts the eclipse – money and love pours in. Venus was in Capricorn, therefore global responsibility was established to help others. In the sidereal chart of this quake, Venus was in Sagittarius where we witnessed the generosity, concern, love and compassion of humanity.
The triple conjunction of Jupiter, Neptune and Chiron (the wounded healer) in Aquarius (in the8th house of money, death, transformation) are planets that offer compassion, generosity and healing. Aquarius is the sign for humanity and we have seen how the world has responded with heartfelt compassion. This display of Aquarian planets is sextile the moon (caring, nurturing) in the 6th house of health and service. Through this aspect we witnessed the best of our fellow man; Aquarius is the sign of the 'World Server,' those who make sacrifices to be of 'service to mankind.'

Miracle's occurred; lives were pulled from the rubble after being buried for many days.
This disaster shows us how our global community can work together as one and care for our fellow human beings, and all sentient beings.

Another Observation and Research Project

For years I have been watching how the Sidereal and Tropical Zodiacs interact as I have experienced this phenomenon through my own chart during times of transitions. If we take the Sidereal Chart of this quake and wrap it around the Tropical chart, there are 3 close conjunctions joining of the 2 systems, which take on the shape of the Yod … I see it as two timelines meeting, touching and then continuing on their journey. When these timelines meet there is something that occurs, perhaps the bending of time and most definitely a significant event. This is really what the end times and 2012 are all about, the Mayan Time Line (the no-time-space continuum, also known as the 13-20-33 vibration) and our linear time line. Here, in the diagram of the sidereal and tropical zodiacs we can see how these time lines can interact.
I have been researching this phenomena for several years and when also applied with natal charts you can see where there may be new directions created in life, the joining or conjunctions of these 2 zodiac time systems seems to give an opportunity for healing, experiences of altered states of consciousness, and could possibly be related, string theory and the reality of parallel universes.

William Lilly

William Lilly (1602-1681) was a well known astrologer and occultist during his time. His specialty was horary astrology, and he was adept at interpreting drawn astrological charts. He caused much controversy in 1666 for allegedly predicting the Great Fire of London some 14 years before it happened. Many people thought he may have started the fire deliberately, but there was no evidence to support these claims.

Lilly was born May 1, 1602 at Diseworth in Leicestershire, England where his family ancestry were long established yeoman farmers. In 1613, he went to grammar school at Ashby-de-Ia-Zouch where he received a basic classical education. His ambition was to go to University and enter the Church, but at the age of seventeen his father fell into debt and poverty, and Lilly was unable to continue his education. He went to London and was employed in attendance to an elderly couple for the next 7 years.

His master died in 1627 leaving him with an annuity and soon afterwards, despite differences in age and social class, Lilly married his master's widow; she died in 1633 leaving him the property to the value of about £1000.

Lilly began to dabble in astrology in 1632, having been introduced to the subject through a Mr. John Evans of Gunpowder Alley. He studied with Mr. Evans until he caught the man giving a false astrological judgement to a paying client. In turn, Lilly disassociated himself from Mr. Evans and continued his studies on his own, reading all the books on the subject he could acquire. Lilly applied himself long hours, day and night, and describes in his own autobiography that he studied to verify if there was any truth to the art.

Lilly began to teach and practise astrology in 1634. In 1641 he began a professional practice and soon became heavily involved with the Parliamentary side in the English Civil War. Through the mid 1640's he refined his skills and wrote prolifically. It is said that he answered 2000 questions a year at the height of his career. He published many astrological almanacs. Christian Astrology, his most definitive work on horary astrology was published in 1647, in three separate volumes. It is considered one of the classic texts for the study of traditional astrology from the Middle Ages.

In 1666 Lilly was summoned to appear before a committee investigating the causes of The Great Fire of London, which he had predicted in 1652 through a heiroglyphic drawing. But with the assistance of his friend, the Royalist Sir Elias Ashmole, working behind the scenes, Lilly managed to convince the committee that his prediction was not precise and he escaped serious consequences.

Afterwards, Lilly lived quietly and comfortably at his Hersham estate in Surrey with his third wife, Ruth. He redirected his talents and studied medicine. A license to practise was granted in 1670, and Lilly treated the poor, free of charge. He died 1681.
